

Abstract

A DUT has a multiple scan paths, at least one per I/O pin. That is, instead of one scan path for every two pins there is one scan path for every pin, thus effectively doubling the number of scan paths inside of a DUT.